Christopher J. Bolling was born, raised, and currently resides in LaGrange, GA. He is the eldest child of Elmore and Menuett Bolling, separated from his younger sister Carlita, by only four years. Christopher is the product of a very large and intimate extended family on both his maternal and paternal sides that not only advocate for, but also exudes togetherness, unity, and the power of family.

Christopher is celebrating his 5th year in the classroom, all of which have been within the halls of dear East Coweta High School. Being broadfield science certified, Christopher primarily teaches 9th Grade Biology and upper class Earth Systems. Christopher has a bachelor's degree in Biology from Tuskegee University, Master's and Educational Specialist degree from LaGrange College, along with having earned a post baccalaureate certification in Dental Assisting from Columbus Technical College. Being a product of the Troup county school system, Christopher is no stranger to the culture of Coweta County and strives to incorporate any and all his life experiences into his classroom and mentorship.

Beyond the classroom, Christopher is a proud member of the East Coweta High School PBIS team and proudly serves as the assistant coach to the award winning YKPhi Step team of East Coweta and the ECHS stomp and shake basketball cheer squad. Christopher is a proud Life Member of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. and currently serves as the director for collegiate Affairs for the Gamma Sigma Chapter and is on the advisory team for both Tuskegee and Auburn Universities undergraduate chapters. Christopher is also a proud member of the Troup County Community Choir based out of LaGrange, Ga.

Christopher enjoys being the change that is needed to keep the drive alive in the students of not only Coweta County, but everywhere he goes. Doing his best to leave a legacy of excellence, he looks forward to making the most out of every class and with every day.
